CONTENTS

CERTIFICATE 2
DEDICATION 3
ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS 4
SYNOPTIC CONTENTS 6
CONTENTS 8
PREFACE 14
LIST OF TABLES 18
EPIGRAPH 20
PART I: STUDY OF CERTAIN PROBLEMATICAL TOPICS 21
PART I: SYNOPTIC CONTENTS 22
CH. 1: A NEW INTRODUCTION TO THE ANCIENT SAṄGHĀRĀMA OF AJANTĀ 23
CH. 2: NOMENCLATURES FOR THE CAVES IN AJANTĀ INSCRIPTIONS 28
Misleading terms: 'caityagṛha' and 'vihāra' 28
Kandarā, śailagṛham, layaṇam, and upāśraya 31
Maṇḍapa 31
Stūpavihāram, munirājacaityam, caityamandiram or ćaityagṛha 32
CH. 3: TELEOLOGICAL, GEOLOGICAL, AND GEOGRAPHICAL DIMENSIONS OF THE ŚAILAGṚHAS 33
Varṣāvāsa 33
Semantics of guhā 38
Geological and geographical factors 42
CH. 4: THE SĀTAVĀHANAS AND VĀKĀṬAKAS: AN UPDATED OUTLINE 51
The Sātavāhanas 51
Patronage 52
Contemporary Ajantā caves 53
The Vākātakas 53
Hariṣeṇa's likely role in the renaissance of Ajantā 60
Was Hariṣeṇa a rājā or mahārājā? 62
In defense of Spink's theory 62
Ṛṣīka and Aśmaka janapadas 67
CH. 5: ALL TOGETHER HOW MANY UPĀŚRAYAS AND MAṆḌAPAS ARE THERE AT AJANTĀ? 69
The extant numbering system 69
Problems or anomalies 72
'Cave' versus 'maṇḍapa' 74
Solution to the anomalies 75
Further explanations 76
CH. 6: INTERROGATING 'HĪNAYĀNA' AND 'MAHĀYĀNA' 80
'Hīnayāna' and 'Mahāyāna' terms are inapplicable to Ajantā 80

The mainstream Buddhist schools 84
Is there a Mahāyāna at Ajantā? 85
CH. 7: AJANTĀ: A SAṄGHĀRĀMA WITHOUT THE SAṄGHA? 89
CH. 8: SOME GREY AREAS IN FIXING THE DATE OF THE VĀKĀṬAKA PHASE OF THE AJANTĀ CAVES 94
Introduction 94
The Debate 95
Hariṣeṇa's Reign and Spink's 'Short Chronology' 98
Viśrūtaćarita Chapter of Daśakumāraćarita by Daṇḍīn 104
The Contentious Cave 17 Inscription 111
The contentious verses 112
Readings by Indraji 112
Readings by Mirashi 113
Readings by Spink 114
Readings by Shastri 116
Readings on Ṛṣika and Aśmaka janapadas 117
Readings on the word 'niyōchrita' 119
Conclusion 121
CH. 9: AJANTĀ IN THE SĀTAVĀHANA PERIOD 122
Cave 10* 122
Introduction 122
Plan 123
Architecture 124
Cave 13* 126
CAVE 12* 126
CAVE 9* 129
Introduction 129
Plan 129
Architecture 130
Cave 15A* 131
PART II: THE FIFTH-CENTURY RENAISSANCE BEGINS IN CIRCA 461 CE 133
PART II: SYNOPTIC CONTENTS 134
CH. 10: In the beginning were only two layouts—one for the two temples and another for the upāśrayas* 135
Unification of the idea of cave-dwelling and cave-temple 140
CH. 11: The first initiated upāśraya—Cave 8* 145
Introduction 145
Historiography 146
For Burgess it was a 'Hīnayāna' cave 148
For Jadhav it is 'Mahāyāna' cave 150

For Dhavalikar it is a 'Late Hīnayāna' cave 152
For Spink it is a 'Vākāṭaka' cave 155
Fresh observations 158
Original plan 158
Site selection 165
CH. 12: The first initiated temple: Cave 26-complex—the donative inscription 168
Introduction 168
A survey of various editions 173
Analysis of certain verses 178
Verse 3 178
Verse 16 179
Verse 7 180
Verse 8 184
Verses 9-13 186
Verse 14 188
CH. 13: CAVE 26-complex—early developments 192
Introduction 192
Some early creations of the Vākāṭaka phase: Caves 8, 27, 25, and 26 193
Cave 8 – the first edifice of the Vākāṭaka phase 194
Cave 27 – some puzzles 195
Cave 25 – the puzzle of the 'left door' 202
Cave 26-complex – some facts 204
Cave 26-complex – the patron Buddhabhadra 210
Early excavation stages in the Cave 26-complex 211
Stage 1: the ćaityagṛha – Phase I: the upper half 211
Stage 2: the upper right wing (Cave 25) – Phases I, II, III, and IV 214
Stage 3: the upper left wing (Cave 27) – Phase I 224
Stage 4: the ćaityagṛha – Phase II: the lower half 229
Stages 5–6: the lower wings 231
Conclusion 232
CH. 14: Cave 26-complex—inaugurated on the Dhamma Day (Āṣāḍha pūrṇimā) of circa 383 Śaka Era, and aligned to the sunrise of Dhamma Day and the first day of THE ĆATURMāsa 234
PURVA-PAKṢA: Spink's 'solstice' and 'chance' theories 235
Problems in Spink's 'solstice' and 'chance' theories 237
Solstices in Gregorian calendar (21/22 June/Dec) 237
Solstices in Indian calendars: Makara-Saṇkrānti and Karkaṭa-Saṇkrānti (14/15 Jan/July) 238
Cave 26 is not connected to Karkaṭa-Saṇkrānti 241
UTTARA-PAKṢA: A new theory of Cave 26's astronomical alignment to the Dhamma Day as well as to the commencement of the caturmāsa and the monsoon season 242
Measurements, angles, and other data 248
Choosing the location and height for alignment 251
Lighting 254

Buddhist Calendar is luni-solar 255
Xuanzang's account of Buddhist calendar 257
Further on the new theory of the astronomical alignment to the Dhamma Day and the first day of the caturmāsa) 259
The tīthi of Dhamma Day (Āṣāḍha Pūrṇimā) and varṣāvāsa in 462 CE 259
Dhamma Day being the date of inauguration of the ćaityagṛha 260
The justification of the astronomical alignment to the Dhamma Day and the first day of the caturmāsa 260
Why alignment to Dhamma Day? 260
Why alignment to ćaturmāsa? 261
Was Diśā-vidhāna performed on Dhamma Day of 383 SE? 264
The cave's high elevation on the cliff 265
Explaining the alignment gap of 1-3 degrees 266
CH. 15: Cave 25—the ill-fated upāśraya 269
Introduction 269
Some crucial features and evidence 272
The puzzling floor levels, courtyards, and staircase 272
The revealing cubical monolithic platform 272
The porch and asymmetrical porch-end vestibule 274
The ominous hole 275
The porch's right wall and a revealing asymmetry 276
The porch's rear wall 277
The crooked hall 278
The façade 279
Authorship points to monk Buddhabhadra 283
Why the upāśraya was needed as an adjunct 284
Phase I of excavation 285
The original layout faced south 285
Phase II of excavation 287
The revised plan faced the east 287
Working on the revised plan 288
The work halts again, this time for making radical changes to the layout 289
The cave becomes a wing of the ćaityagṛha 289
The annexe of the ćaityagṛha cave-complex 290
Phase III of excavation 291
The blunder 292
The abandonment of the cave 294
PART III: SOME EDIFICES INAUGURATED IN CIRCA 462 CE 296
PART III: SYNOPTIC CONTENTS 297
CH. 16: Cave 7—the story behind its eccentric layout 298
Inception and development 298
The porch and the absent hall 303

The shrine-antechamber 305
The shrine 306
Paintings 308
CH. 17: Cave 11—a researcher's nightmare 309
Original layout and constricted location 309
The façade 312
Circa 462-465 CE 313
Circa 465 CE: the saṅghārāma has the new plan to convert the residential upāśrayas into temples 315
Circa 466-477 CE: the porch receives copious adaptations 318
The porch cells 318
The main doorway 318
The porch floor and doorway lions 319
Pillars, shafts, and adhiṣṭhānas 320
The porch benches 321
The windows 323
Circa 466-477 CE: adaptations in the hall 325
Circa 470s CE: evidence of worship activities 328
CH. 18: Cave Lower 6—some puzzles unravelled 330
The location and a historical blunder 330
Circa mid-462 CE: Cave 6L started without provision of 6U 332
Circa 464-465 CE: The pillared porch and the staircase from the riverbed damaged in a rockslide? 335
Circa 465 CE: a tunnelled staircase excavated between caves 6L and 7 337
The main doorway 340
The hall 341
The interior columns 343
The shrine antechamber 344
The shrine doorway 346
The shrine and evidence of worship activities 346
CH. 19: Cave 27—a revealing yet neglected maṇḍapa 349
The neglect 349
Conceived after the failed Cave 25, and led to the expansion of Cave 26-complex 351
Circa mid-462 CE: original layout and planning 356
Circa 464-465 CE: a vestibule for the hall and the porch-end cells 359
The porch-end vestibule with inner cell 359
Orientation of Cave 27 360
The hall and cells 361
Circa 477 CE: the eccentric shrine-antechamber and the sudden desecration of Ajantā 364
CH. 20: Cave 19-complex—inaugurated on the last pūrṇimā of Ćaturmāsa (Kārttika Pūrṇimā) in circa 384 Śaka Era, and aligned to the morning sun of the subsequent three winter upoṣathas 375
PŪRVA-PAKṢA: Spink's theory of the astronomical alignments to solstices 375

UTTARA-PAKṢA: A new theory of Cave 19's astronomical alignment to the winter upoṣathas (beginning from Kārttika Pūrṇimā, i.e. the last pūrṇimā of the Ćaturmāsa) 376
Patron: whether Upendragupta, or Upendragupta II, or Dharadhipa? 379
The original layout had Caves 17 & 20 as residential adjuncts 380
Toraṇa-dvāra 381
The prākāra (enclosing the bahirangana) 383
The bahirangana and the flanking buddha-maṇḍapas 384
Interior pillars and paintings 385

TABLES 387

Table 1: The genealogy of the Satavahanas 388
Table 2: The genealogy of the Vākāṭakas 389
Table 3: The 'revised Vākāṭaka chronology' by Spink 390
Table 4: Re-numerating the Upāśrayas and temples of Ajanta 391
Table 5: The mainstream Buddhist schools 392
Table 6: The upāśrayas, stupa-temples, and adapted maṇḍapas of Ajanta 393
Table 7: New classification of the Ajantā caves 394
Table 8: Identical dimensions of some 5th c. maṇḍapas of Ajanta 395
TABLE 9: Earlier saṅghārāmas—the upāśrayas with stūpa or image shrines 396
Table 10: Ajanta cave temples and their adjuncts in c. 461 CE 397
Table 11: Cave 26-complex—early chronology (including caves 25 and 27) 398
Table 12: Buddhist upoṣathas 399
Table 13: Cave 26—archaeo-astronomical data 400
Table 14: Buddhist year calendar after Xuanzang's descriptions 402
Table 15: Cave 26—further archaeo-astronomical data 403
Table 16: Cave 11—tentative chronology 404
Table 17: Evolution of the 'porch-end-vestibules-with-inner-cells' 407
Table 18: Cave 19—arhaeo-astronomical data 408
Table 19: Cave 19—further archaeo-astronomical data 409
Table 20: Cave 19—draft chronology 410

REFERENCES 412
NOTES 428