Acknowledgement

This doctoral thesis could not have been materialized without the support and guidance of many individuals and thus, I would like to acknowledge their contribution.

First and foremost, I would like to express my deepest gratitude towards my parents and my uncle who have been the biggest support system throughout my life. Without their unconditional love and care, I could never have the courage to leave a bank job and join this field. I will always be indebted towards them for thinking beyond conventional beliefs and allowing me to pursue my dreams. I owe much more than a simple thank you to my dearest sister Niyati, who has been the closest to me in these years.

I am extremely thankful to my teacher and supervisor Dr. Arun Anand for always encouraging and for building a strong foundation for this work. His frank and friendly nature made it easier for me to discuss any queries regarding this thesis. He has always stood by me and extended his cooperation and support.

This acknowledgment will remain incomplete if I don't mention my colleague; Mugdha who has been an integral part of this journey through thick and thin and Swapnil with whom I started this journey. I had a great time working with both of them.

A big thanks to Nimit for creating a stress-free environment in the lab which made it easier to cope up with the struggle experienced during the journey. Also, my sincere appreciation goes towards my lab mates Priyanka, Parth, Nirav, Siddharth, Chetna, Arjun, Subhash, and Sinu.

I would like to extend my sincere thanks to Dr. Jignesh Pandya who was kind enough to lend his valuable time for addressing many of my issues regarding personal and professional life. I would also like to thank Dr. Vani Chhaniwal for her care and support.

I really have to mention my supervisor's collaborators Prof. Javidi, Prof. Zeev Zalevsky, Dr. Pedrini, Dr. P K Gupta, Dr. Yogesh Verma. Special thanks to Dr. Satish Dubey for allowing me to work as an intern at Siemens company which turned out to be a great learning experience and provided exposure to the working environment of an MNC.

I thank Dr. Lee and the team of HICS, South Korea, for making me a part of their company. Special thanks to Kong, Choi, and Nuna who did their best to make me feel at home in S. Korea.

I really appreciate the words of wisdom uttered by my friend Kevil a.k.a Prof which helped me in remaining sane. I also thank Ankit, Nakul, Avani, Akshay Bhai, Dhaval Bhai, Rahul, Laxmi, Mayur, Sohan Bhai, Chaitanya, Kavita madam, Sneha, and Deepak.

During this journey, I learned a lot from all the master's students who were a part of this lab.

My sincere thanks to the head of the department, Dr. B. S. Chakrabarty, and Dean, Prof. Arun Pratap.

Last but not least I extend my thanks to my closest friends SHERU PA, Pandeyji, Hunny, Chirag, Neel, Ankur and Ishaan.

Vismay Trivedi