

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I like to take this opportunity to express my deepest sense of gratitude to my most esteemed guide Dr. (Mrs.) N.A. Shelat, Reader, Education and Psychology, M.S. University, Baroda. In spite of the heavy rush of work at the last moments, she spared her precious time to guide and assist me. I am very particularly indebted to her for her earnest and deep concern for the extension of my period of research by personally making contacts and other valuable ways she could. But, for her kind guidance, help and encouragement at every moment and stage, this thesis would not have seen the light of day.

I am very grateful to the Principals and Teachers of the High Schools of Chotanagpur who were willing to cooperate with my research studies. My heartfelt gratitude goes to my religious authorities - Rev sister Dorothy Ekka and the Council, and the authorities of Ursuline Women's Teachers' Training College at Lohardaga, for making me free and allowing me to complete my research after a long gap of six years.

I am indeed very thankful to Prof. N.S. Pathak, the Dean, Faculty of Education and Psychology, the former Head of CASE, Professor D.B. Desai and all other members of the Faculty for their kind concern and help from the time I had my connections with M.S. University.

Mrs. S.S. Padhye, the CASE Librarian deserves my special thanks for her over eagerness to help me with books and theses needed for my reference. To Mr. C.N. Kachhia, I owe special thanks for accepting to type my thesis so well and fast.

Last but not the least, cordial thanks to all my sisters who were concerned about completing my research and to those who especially helped me to complete the work on schedule.
