

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

“A thankful heart is not only the greatest virtue, but the parent of all virtues”- Cicero

Treading on the long and enriching journey in the field of research in education and the topic of my interest, there have been many earthly angels without whose help the task at hand would not have materialized. With heart filled with gratitude I wish to thank all these beautiful people.

In the first place, I thank my God for His graces and inspiration in compiling and completing my work, sustaining and supporting me through His divine providence. My Superior, His Grace, Archbishop Stanislaus Fernandes SJ, for permitting and constantly encouraging me while doing my doctoral studies.

Dr. Anjali Khirwadkar, my guide and mentor has been instrumental in walking with me and specially when the road had been treacherous and my spirit weak, she goaded me on and set me on the right track. A timely advice, motherly like care when chips were down, correction, positive feedback and personal monitoring of my research work are the hallmark of her genuine personality. She was just great!

A whole lot of people have helped me in my research journey. They are Ms. Bindu of Jesus and Mary School-Palanpur, Sr. Renvilda-Principal of St. Ann’s School-Sabarmati, Mrs. Shija and Sweta, Ms. Apolina, Mr. Martin Alphanso, Sr. Sophia SMMI and Mr. Jigar Gajjar of St. Xavier’s School-Himmatnagar. I owe a lot to Mr. Jigar for all computer, internet related activities and other errands taken up without worrying about self.

During my thesis related work and stay in Vadodara, the Sisters of Jesus and Mary, His Lordship Rt. Rev. Bishop Godfrey De Rosario SJ and Fr. Vincent Macwan were wonderful and generous hosts. I had a pleasant stay and received a lot of support and tender loving care from them. They truly made me feel at home!

I received loads of prayers and encouraging words from my Mum, Brothers Johnnie and Ignatius, Sister Genevieve, Sister-in-law Anita, Nieces Stiana and Kenisha, Godmother Mrs. Winifred D'souza, family friends Dominic Saldanha, Dominic D'Souza and family and a host of relatives and friends.

Special mention needs to be made of Sr. Nirmala Paul RJM for constantly encouraging me to complete my research, helping and reaching out in all my ventures related to my task and for showing interest and taking utmost care of my personal well-being. Also Mr. Prakash Pandit for the numerous help rendered to me in connection with office-related works at the M.S. University, Baroda.

I am grateful to the Dean, Prof. R.G. Kothari and Prof. S.C. Panigrahi, Head, Centre of Advanced Study in Education of the Department at the Faculty of Education and Psychology, The M.S. University Baroda. Thanks also to Dr. Rashmin Sompura, Dr. K. Puspanadham and Dr. Praful Mogera for their expert guidance and knowledge tips.

Finally, my special thanks to the Principal, Staff and Students of the District Institute of Education and Training (DIET) P.T.C. College, Idar for their whole-hearted support and co-operation in conducting my research experiments and for being so very flexible and welcoming.

God bless all of you!

Fr. Telesphoro Tiago Fernandes
