ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

“We must find time to stop and thank the people who make a difference in our lives”

-John F Kennedy

The journey of my formal Ph.D. began in October 2019, a month after which a pandemic strikes the world and India faced a nationwide lockdown. Many people lost their loved ones and some families are still suffering from grief. I'll be forever indebted to the almighty God for keeping me safe, healthy, and alive and giving me the strength to continue my work irrespective of the struggles faced during this period.

In this part of my thesis, I would like to thank all the people who contributed in some way to the work carried out to complete the thesis. First and foremost I would like to express my sincere gratitude to my guide and mentor Prof. Ashutosh Biswal, Head, Department of Education and Dean, Faculty of Education & Psychology, The Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda, Vadodara. Academic discussions with him always motivated and inspired me to give my best in all the work undertaken for this thesis. I would also like to thank him for allowing me to conduct research in my area of interest and for always being supportive of it. He is generous, flexible, patient, helpful, understanding, and always available to answer my questions and offer guidance whenever I seek out his mentorship. He is grounded and realistic, and always motivated me to think out of the box.

I would also like to extend my sincere thanks to Prof. R. C. Patel, former Head & Dean, Department of Education, Faculty of Education & Psychology, The Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda, Vadodara for his administrative support to conduct my research successfully. I am also grateful to all the experts who helped me in the construction and validation of my tools. This work was shaped not just by the numerous materials cited in this thesis, but also by various academic and informal discussions. Many thanks to all the teaching staff and research scholars of my department for providing me with valuable inputs related to my work in Saturday forums and Tuesday seminars. I would like to extend my sincere thanks to all non-teaching staff of the Department of Education, Faculty of Education & Psychology, The Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda, Vadodara for their timely support without whom the work would not have been accomplished.

I take this opportunity to thank the authorities of the Kameshwar College of Education, affiliated with Gujarat universities for giving permission and providing all the necessary facilities required for the data collection. I would also like to acknowledge my sample of M.Ed. students of batch 2021-23 of the Department of Education, Faculty of Education & Psychology, The Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda, Vadodara, and Kameshwar College of Education, Ahmedabad for their cooperation and enthusiasm. It was a fantastic experience to work with them.

I cannot forget my closest friends and the most supportive research scholars who went through hard times together cheered me on and celebrated each accomplishment: Aditi Pandey, Ruchi Diwedi, Malyani Padhan, Shefali Dhimmar and Shourya Chaturvedi.

I deeply thank my parents, Ms. Shabana Tabassum and Dr. A.A.Ansari for their unconditional trust, timely encouragement, and endless patience. Their permanent love and confidence in me have encouraged me to go ahead in my study and career. Finally, I would like to thank, my husband, Mr. Abdullah Ahmad. Being from an IT background, his expertise in IT sector provided me with the most beneficial inputs for this work. He has been my best friend and a great companion. His love, support, encouragement, and sense of humor helped me get through this challenging period in the most positive way.

Thanks to all those whose names I have missed but have directly or indirectly helped me with all the valuable support and inputs for carrying out the experiments successfully and for completing this thesis.

A BIG THANKS TO ALL!
