

Acknowledgment

As I reflect upon the culmination of my arduous and intellectually challenging journey toward the completion of my doctoral degree, I am overwhelmed by an immense sense of gratitude that transcends mere words. This profound sentiment of gratitude emanates from the deepest recesses of my heart, a heartfelt recognition of the pivotal roles played by the individuals who have been instrumental in shaping and sustaining my academic pursuit. Each of them has contributed uniquely, and I stand here today, deeply humbled by their unwavering support, boundless love, and relentless encouragement.

First and foremost, my deepest gratitude is extended to the divine entity, God Shree Shankeshwar Parshwanath. It is with profound reverence that I acknowledge the divine strength and fortitude bestowed upon me throughout this challenging journey. His divine guidance has been a guiding light, an unwavering presence in the depths of my soul, providing me with the inner resilience and strength to persevere in the face of the myriad obstacles and trials encountered on my academic path.

I extend my sincere gratitude to Prof. Satish. J. Patel, my esteemed guide and mentor, and foremost a fatherly figure, whose unwavering commitment and guidance have been instrumental throughout my academic journey. His sage wisdom, scholarly expertise, and unwavering support have been the bedrock of my academic journey. His consistent motivation and astute insights have served as a lighthouse, illuminating the intricate seas of research and scholarship. It is with deep gratitude that I acknowledge the invaluable role he has played in shaping my research, expanding my intellectual horizons, and nurturing my academic growth. I am particularly grateful for his enduring patience, which has created a nurturing environment for learning and growth.

I extend my gratitude to Prof. Atul V. Joshi, the esteemed Head of the Department of Geology, for his continuous support and visionary leadership. Professor Joshi's commitment to fostering academic excellence and creating a conducive learning environment has been pivotal in shaping my academic experience. His guidance and encouragement have been a source of inspiration, and I am grateful for the opportunities and mentorship he has provided.

I express my heartfelt thanks to Prof. D. A. Sant for his continuous motivation and out-of-the-box thinking that has enriched my academic experience. Professor Sant's innovative perspectives and encouragement to explore beyond conventional boundaries have been instrumental in shaping my research approach. I am grateful for his intellectual guidance and the inspiration derived from his unconventional thinking.

My sincere thanks to Dr. Siddharth Prizomwala and Dr. Archana, ISR-Gandhinagar for their help in XRF analysis, and Mr. Mahendra Sutaria, ONGC-Vadodara for his help in learning the palynological extraction technique and identification.

To my beloved parents, Priti and Harnish, and my late grandmother Vijya, my gratitude knows no bounds. Their boundless love, countless sacrifices, and unwavering belief in my potential have formed the foundation upon which I have built my academic aspirations. Their constant encouragement and unwavering support have not only been a source of motivation but have instilled in me the resilience and determination to persist through academic challenges. The values they have instilled in me, the unwavering support they have offered, and the sacrifices they have made have been instrumental in my journey, and for this, I am profoundly grateful.

To my dear sister, Priyal, and brother-in-law, Rushabh, their unwavering support, endless encouragement, and unshakable belief in my capabilities have played a significant role in my academic journey. Their robust bond has been a source of strength and a testament to the enduring nature of our familial connection. Their encouragement has propelled me forward, and for constant support, I am profoundly grateful.

My dearest life partner, Het, his presence in my life has been a beacon of unwavering support, love, and emotional strength. His understanding, patience, and unwavering belief in my abilities have served as a continuous source of inspiration. His sacrifices and encouragement have been instrumental in allowing me to pursue my doctoral dreams. In him, I have found not only a loving partner but a steadfast pillar of support, and for his love, trust, and unwavering faith in me, I am profoundly thankful. I am deeply gratified to my mother-in-law, Jagruti, and father-in-law Nikhil, for their unwavering and constant support during my doctoral journey.

I extend my appreciation to my dedicated students, Supriya, Dev, Meet, Eric, Ashish, Devendra, Asha, Srushti, and Athulya, for their invaluable contributions to fieldwork and sample collection. Your diligence, enthusiasm, and commitment to the research process have not only facilitated the progression of my work but have also contributed to the overall success of our collaborative efforts.

I also extend my sincere gratitude to administrative staff, Mr. Mukesh Vanik and Mr. Mohammad, Mr. Sanjay Makwana, Mrs. Dhruva Purohit, Mr. Dinesh Rana, Mr. Narpat Parmar, and Mr. Bachu Mali, for their help.

I wish to extend my heartfelt appreciation to my circle of friends, Julie, Sunishtha, Nirav, Royston, Rehan, Archchi, Gunjan, Poonam, Kritika, Akshita, Mudra, Vatsal, Ishaan, and Digvijay who have been a source of inspiration, laughter, and moral support throughout this long and untiring journey. Your presence, camaraderie, and shared experiences have made the challenging moments more bearable and the joyous moments all the more memorable. The friendships forged during this time are a testament to the enduring bonds that have sustained me, and I treasure the gift of your presence in my life.

In conclusion, it is with a sense of profound humility and gratitude that I acknowledge that this doctoral achievement is not solely my own, but a collective effort and a testament to the love, unwavering support, and encouragement I have received from these exceptional individuals. Their contributions have been the scaffolding upon which I have constructed my academic edifice. It is with a heart overflowing with gratitude that I express my profound appreciation to each of them.

With deep and abiding gratitude,

Nishi H. Shah