

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

First and foremost, I thank my guide Prof. Sushmita Sen, and the Head of the department, for accepting me as a researcher under her. I am deeply indebted to her for accepting me under her guidance. She has been a source of inspiration, and a mother figure throughout the research work. She has been a passionate scholar with sound knowledge; all of this was to my advantage while discussing any subject or aspect of this thesis. This work would not have been completed without her encouragement, perseverance, and support.

I am thankful to the Department of Archaeology and Ancient History, The Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda, Gujarat, and its staff, who had been very cooperative. I would also like to thank the faculties of the Department of Archaeology and Ancient History Prof. K. Krishnan, Prof. P. Ajith prasad, Dr. Urmi Ghosh Biswas, Dr. Vrushab Mahesh, Shri. Prathapchandran S and Dr. Yogesh Prabhudesai, (Deccan College) for their constant support. I am totally grateful to the Librarian t and other staffs of the Department of Archaeology and Ancient History.

I am thankful to the Archaeological Survey of India specially Superintending Archaeologist Dr. Gunjan Kumar Srivastava (Excavation Branch-II, New Delhi), Dr. Madhulika Samanta (Director, NMMA), Dr. Sarjun Prasad (Assisting Superintending Archaeologist, Central Antiquity Collection Section, Purana Qila, New Delhi) and all other members and staff for giving me permission to access its excavated materials at the site and in the store, allowing me to use some of their photographs, plans and use their infrastructure during the field work.

I have been fortunate to receive generous and warm support from the staff and colleagues at Mathura Museum (Mathura), National Museum (New Delhi), Indian Museum, Asutosh Museum (Kolkata), Bihar Museum (Patna), Vidisha Museum (Vidisha), Gujari Mahal Museum (Gwalior), Centre for Art and Archaeology, American Institute of Indian Studies (Gurugram), Allahabad Museum (Prayagraj) and Central Antiquity Collection Section, Purana Qila (New Delhi) for allowing me to access the material and the images for my research. I am deeply thankful for their assistance and support.

I gratefully acknowledge Centre for Policy Research and Governance- Indian Knowledge System (CPRG-IKS) for providing me with Small Study Research Grant which supported me in undertaking ethnographic surveys to understand several dimensions of Yaksha cult in the area under investigation.

I am greatly beholden to my friends Abhishek Roy, Aditya Singh, Pallabi Bagchi, Ven. Okekahta, Neelima Vasudevan, Akash Pandey, Nisha Arya, Sagorika Chakraborty and Shivalika Khopkar, helped me every now and then when I was on the verge of completion of my work. The moments of frustration and fun which I have shared with them will remain with me throughout my life.

I cannot put into words my gratitude to my parents, Mr. Sadananda Mukhopadhyay and Mrs. Rekha Mukhopadhyay who not only encouraged me to go forward with my research work but also made it a point to see that I do not get distracted from my objective. Despite their busy schedule, they accompanied me on my field trips, helped, cooperated in all possible ways to see my research work completed. I wish to thank my brother Kaushik Mukherjee, whose support and optimism helped me finally reach the successful end of the journey.

I am also thankful to all the scholars, researchers, authors whose works/photographs have been quoted/ used in this research work. If I have left anyone out, I sincerely apologize, but know that my thanks go out to you as well.

Pratishtha Mukherjee
