

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I dedicate my work to Pujya Gurudev Shri Kanji Swami, Pujya Bhagwati Mata and all the Vitrag Tirthankars of Jainism, who conferred their divine blessings upon me and enabled me to achieve my goal.

I wish to extend my heartfelt gratitude to Dr. Anshu Surve, an esteemed Assistant Professor at The Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda, who has not only been my research guide but also has been akin to a second mother throughout my academic journey. I am indebted to her for graciously accepting me as a research scholar and for her unwavering commitment from the inception of my thesis to its completion, encompassing feedback and final approval. Her reservoir of wisdom and insightful perspectives has been an invaluable asset, and I am extremely grateful for her invaluable guidance in deciphering the intricate language of research through her meticulous oversight and understanding of my academic journey. Her kindness, generosity and patience have created an environment conducive to learning and growth. Her persistence and wealth of knowledge have played a crucial role in this journey of my research. Beyond the academic realm, she has significantly contributed to my personal growth, moulding me into a resilient and determined individual. I extend my sincere acknowledgement to her for the invaluable assistance she has provided throughout my study, emphasizing her multifaceted role not only as a mentor but also as a guide, motivator and a pillar of strength, that have been instrumental in shaping the trajectory of my thesis.

Prof. Hitesh D. Raviya, Head of the English Department and Vice-Dean of the Faculty of Arts, emerged as an unwavering pillar of support throughout the course of my research endeavors. I am eternally grateful for his invaluable guidance on administrative and educational matters, and I hold deep appreciation for the genuine institutional support that he consistently extended to me throughout the entirety of my research journey.

I extend my profound appreciation to the Registrar of The Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda for generously granting me the opportunity to embark on a doctoral journey. My sincere gratitude is also directed towards Prof. Adhya Saxena, the esteemed Dean of the Faculty of Arts, whose steadfast support and approval were instrumental throughout my enrollment and submission processes.

I am profoundly indebted to the English professors at the Department of English of Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda, whose consistent assistance has been instrumental throughout my academic journey.

My sincere appreciation goes out to the non-teaching staff of English Department - Ms. Pallavi Patel and Mr. Ramesh Vaghela.

I extend my heartfelt gratitude to Dr. Garima Tiwari, who, akin to an elder sister and fellow researcher, has stood by my side since the inception of my Ph.D. journey, her guidance has been instrumental, particularly in orchestrating the six-monthly presentations, imparting numerous insights and fostering compelling arguments that have significantly enriched my academic pursuits. Additionally, I would like to express my regards to Dr. Deepali Shahdadpuri for her continuous aid with the documentation work of my thesis .

I extend my deepest appreciation to Dr. Sunil Surve, the husband of my mentor, Dr. Anshu Surve. His invaluable guidance not only inspired me throughout my Ph.D. journey, but also played a pivotal role in shaping the trajectory of my research endeavors. In addition, Rudransh Surve, akin to an elder brother, has been a continual source of inspiration in fueling my academic pursuits.

My indebtedness extends to the unswerving support and confidence bestowed upon me by my parents, Rushabh Varia and Hema Varia. Their enduring belief in my capabilities has been an ever-present wellspring of motivation throughout my journey. I consider myself truly fortunate to have them as my greatest pillars of strength for offering me indispensable compassion and understanding, that have proven vital in navigating the challenging path I undertook. In particular, my gratitude extends to my mother, Hema Varia, whose rock-like presence has been a beacon of strength, guiding me through the complexities of this journey. She has been a constant source of solace, resilience and encouragement, that has been integral to my personal and academic pursuits.

I am deeply appreciative of the profound inspiration and consistent guidance bestowed upon me by my younger brother, Samyak Varia. His unwavering support, whether in meticulously reviewing drafts, providing insightful commentary, or simply being a comforting presence, has proven to be one of its kind. I gratefully acknowledge the blessing of having a brother who not only uplifts me through thick and thin, but also imparts a profound sense of completeness to my life.

I express my eternal gratitude to my husband, Samyak Dhanki, whose remarkable presence, support and strength have been constant pillars of my life, His understanding of the pivotal role of a Ph.D. in shaping my professional trajectory is deeply appreciated. I attribute a great portion of my academic accomplishments to the invaluable care and generosity extended by him. In recognizing the profound impact of his support, I am deeply grateful for the integral role he has played in fostering my academic growth and achievements. Beyond being a supportive life partner, he is the epitome of excellence in my life. This transformative journey would not have been possible without his unwavering support, making him an indispensable and cherished part of my academic and personal odyssey.

I also extend my heartfelt appreciation to my in-laws, whose unshakable faith and support has been a cornerstone of my success. My grandmother, my uncle Chaitanya Varia, my aunt Rupal Varia and my cousin Vivek Varia, possessing a commendable spirit of camaraderie, has been a source of inspiration and encouragement, fostering a collaborative atmosphere that has positively influenced my academic journey with happiness and fortitude.

The culmination of my academic journey would have remained an unattainable feat without the collective contributions of each and every one of you!
