I take this opportunity to express my gratitude and thanks to many people who are responsible in one way or another for supporting me to reach this point in my life.

I am very thankful to the senior management team, and human resources department of Sun Pharma Advanced Research Company Ltd. for allowing me to do a Ph.D. along with my job. I express my sincere gratitude to SPARC for partial funding of this thesis work.

I extend my deepest gratitude to my guide and esteemed advisor, Dr. Kirti V. Patel, Associate Professor and Dean, Faculty of Pharmacy for her unwavering guidance, insightful feedback, and mentorship with enthusiasm, vision, and motivation that have deeply inspired me. Madam's advice and guidance throughout my research work have resulted in extraordinary experiences. I consider myself very fortunate that madam taught me critical scientific thinking and excellent editing of manuscripts and thesis.

I would also like to convey my thanks to my co-guide, Dr. Sanjay N. Mandhane, Ex. Associate Vice President, Sun Pharma Advanced Research Company Ltd., for his help, constant support, guidance, and expertise. His encouragement has been invaluable throughout the research journey.

I can't restrict myself to thanking Dr. Dhiraj Kabra for his continuous encouragement and guidance for conducting experiments, especially for molecular studies. I am deeply grateful to Dr. Dilawar Upadhyay for his unwavering and consistent support throughout my thesis work.

I greatly appreciate and acknowledge the support received from various departments of SPARC, in-vitro biology, laboratory animal resources, toxicology, and the purchase department. I also want to thank the administrative staff of the Pharmacy Department for their help and cooperation.

I am profoundly grateful to my colleagues at the Bio-Research Pharmacology department, Trupti madam, Shivangi and Hardik from the Pharmacology department, Faculty of Pharmacy and Ph.D. batch-mates Amit, Mrunal, Preeti madam, and Apeksha.

Lastly and most importantly, I would like to thank my family, who supported and encouraged me to follow my dream. Words are inadequate to express my reverence for my parents for their vision, ethical principles, moral support, endless patience and eternal inspiration to face any situation in life. I would like to acknowledge my brother and sister for their help and encouragement at every stage of my personal and professional life.

I owe thanks to my wife and son for their continued and unfailing love, support and understanding during my pursuit of a Ph.D. degree that made the completion of my thesis possible. They are always ready to sacrifice their personal lives, especially Saturday and Sunday, for my convenience. I truly do appreciate it. I would like to give a special thank you to my son, Swastik, who patiently waited all throughout these years to complete my Ph.D.

Finally, I take this opportunity to thank everyone who has been directly or indirectly associated with the successful completion of my research work.
