

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

First and foremost, my greatest gratitude goes to the Almighty God for the gift of life, strength, and health to complete this study. I am eternally grateful to the almighty God for this incredible journey.

Completing my PhD thesis has been a transformative journey, and I am deeply grateful to all those who have supported me. I would like to express my heartfelt gratitude to my supervisor, Prof. Karanam Pushpanadham, whose guidance, expertise, and encouragement were invaluable throughout this process. Your unwavering belief in my abilities and constructive feedback pushed me to reach new heights in my research. Thank you for your patience and always being available to discuss ideas, challenges, and solutions.

I would also like to extend my appreciation to the Dean and Head of the Faculty of Education and Psychology, Prof. Ashutosh Biswal, Prof. Sujata Srivastava, Prof. Satish Patark, and all senior members of the Faculty of Education and Psychology, the Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda for their insightful comments and suggestions through various means that significantly enriched my work. Your diverse perspectives and constructive critiques helped refine my research and sharpen my analytical skills.

A special mention and appreciation to Prof. Christopher. Okpoti (University of Education, Winneba, Ghana), Prof. Jones Apau (University of Education, Winneba, Ghana), Dr Kofi Nkonkonya Mpuangnan (University of Zululand, South Africa), Prof. Sunila Thomas (Titus II Teachers College, Tiruvalla, India) and Prof. Nilratan Roy (Tezpur University, India) for taking time off their busy schedule to review and provide insightful inputs towards the validation of the tools of my PhD thesis. A Special thank you to Prof. Danish Patel, Director of the Office of International Affairs (OIA), for his support and advice throughout my stay in India and towards my academic work.

A special thanks go to my colleagues and friends in the Faculty of Education and Psychology, Department of Education, the Maharaja Sayajiaro University of Education. The camaraderie we shared made the long hours of research and writing much more enjoyable. I am grateful for the engaging conversations, teamwork, and many joyful moments that have brought light to our days. Each of you was vital in creating an inspiring atmosphere that nurtured creativity and intellectual development.

I would also like to acknowledge the financial support from the Indian Council of Cultural Relations (ICCR), which made this research possible. Your investment in my education allowed me to focus on my studies without the burden of financial stress. Additionally, I am grateful for the resources provided by The Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda, which facilitated my research endeavours and enhanced my learning experience.

Finally, I want to express my deepest gratitude to my family and friends for their unwavering support and encouragement. To my parents, Mr and Mrs Ennin, thank you for instilling a love for learning and always believing in my potential. I could not have accomplished this without the upbringing you gave me, and I am forever thankful for your presence in my life.

Thank you to all.

Francis Ennin