

APPENDIX ARANKING OF FACTORS WHICH SEEM TO CONTRIBUTE TO SUCCESS IN TEACHING

Dear Sir,

I am constructing and standardising "An Aptitude Test for Secondary School Teachers" for my Doctorate Thesis.

I shall be very thankful to you if you kindly help me in my work by giving your very valuable opinion as to the factors which condition success in teaching in secondary schools.

A list of seventeen factors which seem to contribute to success in teaching is given below. You are requested to rank these factors in order of their importance in contributing to success in the secondary school teaching profession.

Please keep in view the following points while ranking the factors:

- (1) Please rank the most important factor/factors, according to you, as 1 (one) and others in order of their importance as 2, 3, 4 and so on, in rank order.
- (2) You may please give the same rank, even, to two or more factors, if you find them of equal importance in conditioning success in teaching.
- (3) You may start with any rank. It is not necessary to begin with rank 1 (one).
- (4) Please note: The lower the rank assigned to a factor, the greater is the contribution of that factor to success in teaching.
- (5) If you find any important factor which, according to you, is highly contributing to success in teaching, and which is not found in the following list, please add it to the list given and rank it.

Thanking you,

Yours faithfully,

M. M. Shah.

THE LIST OF THE FACTORS
CONTRIBUTING TO SUCCESS
IN TEACHING

Sr. No.	Factor	Rank
1	Knowledge of subject-matter	()
2	Intelligence - Mental ability	()
3	General knowledge	()
4	Attitude towards community	()
5	Attitude towards children	()
6	Adaptability	()
7	Professional information	()
8	Industry	()
9	Sincerity	()
10	Attitude towards life	()
11	Interest in reading	()
12	Interest in profession	()
13	Health	()
14	Personal appearance	()
15	Personality	()
16	Character	()
17	Teacher - pupil relationship	()
18
19
20		