

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I thank my Supervisor, Dr. (Mrs) S. D. Patankar for the unstinting support she gave me throughout this project, her incredible patience and the academic freedom I enjoyed under her.

I am grateful to Dr. T. K. S. Lakshmi for initiating me to enter into this meaningful investigation and providing me a better clarity of the problem of investigation.

I thank Dr. (Mrs.) S. Joshi, Dr. Goel, my teachers and other staff of the faculty, Faculty of Education and Psychology, for the support they lent me whenever I was in need of it.

I owe a lot to my wife Simy, my mother and my family members for the support they gave in my hours of difficulties.

I thank Malhar and Beena for their technical assistance at very crucial time of this thesis typing.

Thanks to my friends and colleagues for the faith they had in me and the courage instilled in me.

Finally, thanks to all those whose names I have forgotten (not the experiences I shared with them) who, in some way or other, at one time or another, helped me as good 'Samaritans'.
