

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This endeavour would not have been possible without the blessings of God Almighty. I offer my humble prayers to the supreme power in this world.

First and foremost, I sincerely thank my guide Dr. Pushpanadham Karanam, Associate Professor, Faculty of Education and Psychology, The Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda, Vadodara for his faith in me that I can do research in this area. His valuable supervision, excellent guidance and advice throughout the progress of this work, his ingenuity, constant encouragement, keen knowledge and interest in the subject proved to be a constant source of inspiration for me. His immense patience and insistence on my reflections helped me to overcome the ups and downs at various stages of my study. He has been a friend, philosopher and guide throughout the study in the true sense of the phrase.

I extend my gratitude to Prof. R.G. Kothari, Dean, Faculty of Education and Psychology, Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda, and Prof. N. Pradhan, Head, Department of Educational Administration and Prof. S.C. Panigrahi, Head, Centre of Advanced Study in Education, Department Education and Psychology, Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda for their support.

I am immensely grateful to the experts who reviewed the concept developed by me.

I owe my gratitude to all my respected teachers of the Faculty of Education and Psychology, The M.S. University of Baroda, Vadodara.

I am also thankful to the librarians at CASE and HansaMetha Library. The non-teaching staff of Faculty of Education and Psychology, The M.S. University of Baroda, has supported me time and again for the successful completion of the thesis.

I am highly indebted to the Review Committee for Research Proposals of the School Districts in my study in the United States of America for permitting me to conduct the study in their school districts.

I appreciate the efforts made by the Principals of different schools in the United States of America, as they permitted me to conduct my study in their schools. I would like to put in a special word for Ms. Audrey Jackson, the Director of Professional Development in St. Louis Public School District at St. Louis, Missouri USA and Ms.KarenKolskythe In-charge Director of Professional Development at the School Districts of Philadelphia, for giving their valuable time and for sharing their immense contribution on professional development of teachers with me. I would like to express my appreciation to all the teachers who responded to the survey questionnaires in the sample schools.

I would like to thank my husband Sri Subramanian for his constant encouragement and support in my journey of the study and tolerated my occasional negligence of the family responsibilities. My daughter, Deepa, son-in-law Senthil, and son Vijay gave their unstinted support in USA, without which it would have been impossible to complete this study. Thank you, Deepa, Vijay and Senthil. My special thanks to my sister Kamala and brother-in-law Raghuraman who always encouraged me and gave me the moral support whenever needed. I thank all my family members for their words of encouragement and unwavering faith in my abilities though sometimes I was bogged down by doubt and uncertainty.

I was surrounded by friends like Swaleha,Sudha, Neela,andRaji, who have always encouraged me. Swaleha, thanks for all the moral support given whenever needed.Ialso thank all the research scholars at CASE, Amit Choudhary, Asit and.Jayalakshmi for their insight and criticisms throughout the course of my doctoral work.I am grateful to Sakesh who has helped me during the last phase with the technical support.

I am indebted to. Janaky, my friend who put aside her work to help me in my study and for the timely motivation. Thank you, Janaky for creating a conducive, intellectual environment for sharing and discussing various ideas.

I am thankful to.Madhavi at CASE and Poojawho provided support when needed most and for looking into the chapters and giving suggestions.

Above all, I am greatly indebted to each and everyone who even by the smallest thought has helped me during the period of my study.

Thank You All

Mrs. Meera Subramanian
