

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I take this opportunity to express my gratitude to my supervisor, Dr. Mrs. S.D. Palankar, Reader, Faculty of Education and Psychology, M.S. University, Bombay, for her guidance and constant encouragement provided in the completion of this study.

I feel specially indebted to Prof. M.S. Pathel, Ex. Dean, Faculty of Education and Psychology, M.S. University, Bombay, for his most valuable and concrete suggestions with respect to the analysis of the present research. My thanks are also due to Prof. Punzalan, Director, Centre of Social Studies, South Gujarat University, Surat, Dr. N.G. Jethani, Reader, Faculty of Education and Psychology, M.S. University, Bombay, Dr. S.L. Patel, Retd. Reader, Faculty of Education and Psychology, M.S. University, Bombay and Dr. Rajaram, Reader, Dept. of Sociology, M.S. University, Bombay for their fruitful suggestions and feed-back provided from time to time.

My special thanks to Mr. Dipak Desai, a never failing friend who remained always by my side, offering her untiring help in the course of the present study. I must also thank Mr. Pradip White and Mr. Ravindra Sawantkar for rendering their aid in collecting data for this research. This research would not have been possible without the help of this study.

Last but not the least, I wish to express my deep sense of gratitude to all my family members for extending their moral support and for tolerating my absence in many of the important famil. affairs, while I was busy with the present research.
