CHAPTER I INTRODUCTION	1 - 34
The Probable Answer, 3; Whither the Theory of Teaching, 6; Significance of Classroom Communication, 9; Programmed Learning Technique and Teacher Behaviour, 10; What is Classroom Interaction Analysis, 12; A Promising Departure, 14; Classroom Interaction Analysis and Teacher Behaviour, 16; The Strategy of the Study of Teacher Behaviour, 18; Type of Observation, 20; The Observer and the Observation Process, 21; Qualities Needed for Efficient Observation, 21; Observer Training, 22; What to Observe in the Classroom, 23; Purpose and Techniques of Analysis of Teacher Behaviour, 24; Teacher Behaviour and Teacher Effectiveness, 25; Prospects for Interaction Analysis, 28; Interaction Analysis and Teacher Education, 28; Interaction Analysis and Research on Teaching Effectiveness, 31; The Present Need, 32.
CHAPTER II REVIEW OF RELATED LITERATURE	35 - 66
Towards a Theory of Social-Emotional Climate in the Classroom, 36-53.
Classroom Climate, 36; Classroom Events in a Social Milieu, 39; Inter-Personal Relations, 40; The Contrasting Climates, 40; Climate and Learning, 47.
Interaction Analysis Procedure and Research on Teaching Patterns, 53-53.
Process-Product Research, 57; Presage-Process Research, 61.

Other Studies, 65-65; Conclusion,
65-66.

CHAPTER III PROBLEM, PLAN AND PROCEDURE 67 - 172

The Problem and the Variables, 67;
Rationale of the Problem, 70; Scope,
76; Hypotheses, 77; Tools of Research, 81; Observer Training and Reliability, 96; Ground Rules,
97; The Procedure of Observation,
105; Tabulation and Interpretation of Matrix, 107; Sample, 164; The Scheme of Observations, 168;
Methodology, 169.

IV TEACHER CLASSROOM BEHAVIOUR AND TEACHER CHARACTERISTICS
- ANALYSIS AND DISCUSSION - 173 - 273

Teacher Behaviour in Relation to Age, Recency of Training and Experience, 173; Teacher Behaviour in Relation to Sex and Marital Status, 176; Classroom Behaviour of Male and Female Teachers (Study of Matrices), 182; Classroom Behaviour of Married and Unmarried Teachers
(Study of Matrices), 229;

V TEACHER CLASSROOM BEHAVIOUR AND SUBJECT TAUGHT - ANALYSIS AND DISCUSSION - 274 - 349

Teacher Behaviour in Relation to
Subject Taught, 274; Classroom
Behaviour of Teachers While Teaching Different Subjects (Study of Matrices), 292.

VI SUMMARY AND CONCLUSIONS 350 - 386

Major Findings Bearing on Hypothesis, 351; Major Findings from Study of Matrices Based on Sex, 354; Major
Findings from Study of Matrices
Based on Marital Status, 362; Major
Findings from Study of Matrices

Based on Subject Taught, 369;
Major Conclusions, 376;
Suggestions, 383.
