

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

In the course of my research work, I am indebted to several persons of various capacities. Without whom this endeavour of mine would not have seen the light of the day. And now it is time.... time to talk of heart and express a few words of gratitude. A word of emotion and thanks would not suffice but still, must be voiced. I shall forever be indebted to my mother, who, despite being illiterate, ailing and a widow brought me up without allowing the sense of gender discrimination to creep into my psyche. With her painstaking efforts and support even in her mid-eighties, her role has been seminal in keeping my spirit high. She has been my role model, and to her for you my dear Maa. I can only say: "The existence and my destiny been kind to me for having made me come through you".

It is with venerable sentiments that I wish to express my heart felt gratitude to my beloved father Late Jayalal Dash and dearest friendly brother Late Basant Dash, who had been the source of inspiration for this research endeavour. Although they are not here to see their dreams coming true, I am sure they are with me in their ethereal forms and might be wondering as to why was I late in fulfilling their cherished desires.

I expatiate my unfathomable feelings of gratitude to my guide Dr.N Pradhan, Reader and Head, Department of Educational Administration, Faculty of Education & Psychology, for his insightful and sustained guidance, critical comments and expert suggestions during this research work. I sincerely acknowledge his support, which has been instrumental in my efforts to reach the goal.

My sincere thanks also hold for the entire RSS family and the family of SVP, Rourkela, for their help, co-operation and prompt services in providing me with the relevant data for my research, without which my study would not have been completed successfully.

I owe a word of thanks with an abysmal sense of gratitude to the dedicated volunteers of RSS, the Rourkelites, and above all the deprived slum-dwellers, who helped me in multiple ways during my study in the field for years together. They have provided me incredible and insightful learning experiences for a meaningful living along with research knowledge and have invoked within me a sense of enormous generosity and good will. The slum-dwellers and the selfless volunteers have taught me the joy of commitment and voluntarism, and essence of prioritising the larger collective intent over individual ego.

I am very much grateful to Government of Orissa and the Principal, RCET, Rourkela for their roles in enabling me to avail study leave in order to complete this research work of mine. I am also thankful to my colleagues and students for their support and best wishes during my research study.

I would further like to extend my gratitude to Prof. R.G. Kothari, Head, CASE & Dean, Faculty of Education & Psychology; and Prof. S.M. Joshi, Ex-Dean, Faculty of Education & Psychology, and Prof. D.R. Goel, Ex-Head, CASE, M.S.University of Baroda for their academic support and encouragement at different points of time to accomplish this research work. My thankfulness is also due to all the staff members and fellow scholars of the faculty for their co-operation during my study.

I am thankful to the authorities and the librarians of both CASE and Hansa Mehta Library, and also the librarians of some other parts of the country for extending a helping hand and allowing me to make use of their libraries. I also acknowledge my indebtedness to the authors of different works I have referred to, for my research work to make it bonafide.

My sisterly Banaja and her lovely daughter Anvesha provided me a home away from home during my research work and stay at Baroda. I am thankful to them for their caring and sharing.

The timely help and moral support of Dr.Ashutosh Biswal, Lecturer in CASE, counted immensely in completion of my thesis in time. To him, I owe more than the customary acknowledgement.

I am grateful to Mrs.Maya Vyas, Superintendent, S.D. hall and Coordinator, Halls of Residences, M.S.University, Baroda and her entire family for their generosity. Motherly Mrs.Vyas, has stood by me in crisis, during my research work. Without her inspiration and tender care, this thesis of mine would have remained incomplete.

I would sincerely like to thank Ajay Parmar for employing his typing skills, and Ajay Nair for his help on technical grounds. Monica, Jaishree, Puspanadhan and Mukesh deserve to get my heartfelt appreciation and thanks for their moral support and cooperation. I sincerely thank to inmates of S.D. Hall for their love and good wishes during my research work and stay at Baroda .

The enlightening discussions held with the organisers of National and State (ORISSA) BGVS like M.P. Parameswaran, K. Krishnakumar, Vinod Raina, Dr.Madan Mohan, Dr.S.Mudali, B.N. Dash, S.K. Biswas and many others at different points of time have provided an impetus to my research. I acknowledge their intellectual support and encouragement with thanks.

Sri Asit Tripathy, IAS, Sri D.N. Das, Director, S.V.P., Rourkela and Late Dr.Usha Kiran Sharma who shared their insight and guided me in various ways during the conceptualisation of this academic endeavour. I am thankful to them for such an invaluable gesture and their encouragement.

My sincere appreciation and thanks are also due to Gopal, Prasanna, Chitra Madam, Munu, Raja, Tanka, Karitika, Bichitra, Sabita, Anu, Fatherly Bada Babu and many others for their willing help and co-operation during data collection for this piece of research.

I am thankful to Sri Aurobindoo Behara, IAS, for his help and personal interest for the sanctioning of my study leave. I am also equally thankful to Sri Aurobindoo Padhi IAS, for his generosity and brotherly disposition during the tenure of my study.

I also owe a word of thanks to various government, non-government and Voluntary Organisations of the city, State as well as the Nation for their overwhelming co-operation and help in providing me with the valuable data and resources for my research work.

Stuti didi and Bina nani who have kept their unshaken faith in me, and have taken a great pride in my research work. I find words deficient to express my feelings towards them for their support and inspiration for which I am thankful.

Words fail to express my deepest feelings of appreciation and indebtedness to my father less nephew Ajit and Niece Arpita, the parts of my heart, my widowed bhabhi, my mentally challenged brother and other family members for their remarkable patience and encouragement, who remained in deprivation of my love and care for a long period. I also take this opportunity to express with a sense of pride and humility, my profound gratitude to my reverend teacher Late, Prof. G.K. Samantaray for his aura of inspirations and blessings which count a lot in my academic growth and research endeavour in this field unto his death.

Finally, my thanks also hold for those who have gone unacknowledged over here.

Kishori Dash
28/2/2002
(KISHORI DASH)

Investigator