The author is deeply indebted to his learned supervisor Dr. M.B. Buch, Professor and Head, Centre of Advanced Study in Education, M.S. University, Baroda, for his initiating the author in the matter of making his beginning with this research, and for his brilliant guidance and constant encouragement. The rich experience and the benevolent nature of Dr. Buch have been liberally drawn upon to make the work what it is.

I extend my thanks for the most willing cooperation of the young women student teachers of the Dev Samaj College of Education for Women Ferozepur and the members of the observation team drawn from that College and the practising School. Without their cooperation the project could not be completed.

I must record my feelings of appreciation and gratitude to Dr. A.B.L. Sirivastava, Statistician, Asian Institute of Educational Administration, New-Delhi, and Dr. D.J. Satterly, of the Bristol University School of Education, Bristol.U.K. for assistance and encouragement in the development of statistical techniques and analysis of data. I am equally conscious of the encouragement that I got from Dr. B.K. Passi, Reader, Centre of Advanced Study in Education, Baroda, while processing the data.

I extend my feelings of appreciation to the Librarian, Bristol University School of Education Library, Bristol.U.K. for providing me library facilities during my brief visit to U.K. as a Common Wealth Barsar in 1971.
